Content Developer Vacancy
Full time role based in Harpenden, Hertfordshire

Who are we?

Cursim is Omniplex's learning design agency. We work with some of the most exciting brands in the world, creating digital learning courses on the widest variety of subjects you can imagine. It's not only cool to work here – it's a privilege, and an education in itself that pushes, inspires and challenges us every single day.

We are seeking people who can help us to push the boundaries of content development, based on a solid foundation of learning science and following evidence-based best practice.

This role will be remote based until the UK Government advise that it is safe to return to work.

The Role

As a Content Developer for Omniplex, you'll will:

- be involved in projects for a diverse range of clients, on a diverse range of subject areas
- use your content development experience to help build compelling, beautifully designed courses
- build courses from storyboards provided by an instructional designer
- contribute creative ideas for technical, graphic design and instructional design treatment
- go above and beyond standard authoring tool functionality and know how to 'hack' the tools
- create, enhance and maintain courses in Articulate Storyline and Articulate 360 (including Rise)
- contribute expertise to blogs and webinars
- build methodically and command the highest quality standard of the learning you create.

The person

We would expect you already have this knowledge and these skills:

- expert ability to develop content in the Articulate suite of products, primarily Storyline

- ability to provide expert support to other users of Articulate both internal and external
- produce complex interactions and rapid build using Articulate
- interest in, understanding of, and ability to use graphic design principles to create attractive interfaces
- understanding of user interface design and best practice
- understanding of how to create learning which is accessible to the widest possible audience
- incorporating mixed media in courses for maximum impact.

Ideally you would also have this knowledge and these skills:

- able to use Adobe creative suite to design buttons, create/ manipulate images, create simple animations.
- ability to use java script to enhance learning design and extend design capabilities
- awareness of intellectual property, NDAs and respect for commercial confidentiality
- commercial awareness and ability to work within a time / cost budget
- experience of learning management systems and interoperability standards
- experience of building courses in other market leading authoring tools such as Captivate
- willingness to help other people learn to use Articulate products to an advanced level of competence
- ability to visit clients for meetings, to share content development expertise with them or build on-site
- knowledge of web authoring and web development software (this would be a helpful but is not essential).

As a person, you:

- are committed to a customer-focussed approach, understanding needs and helping where possible
- keep yourself up to date with the latest thinking in content development and best practice
- have a passion for online learning and how technology can appropriately be used to transform learning
- are personable, friendly, and keen to build excellent relationships with colleagues and clients
- work well with team members such as graphic designers, instructional designers and project managers
- build rapport at all levels and communicate effectively both verbally and in writing
- are innovative and creative
- like the creative challenge of solving problems
- have excellent organisational skills and the ability to work to (often tight) deadlines
- understand that working for a small but growing company brings interest and involvement, but requires flexibility and a commitment to getting the job done.

The benefits

It's an exciting time to join our flexible and rapidly expanding business. You'll have the scope to shape your role and collaborate on a variety of projects, creating outstanding digital learning solutions for customer such as Sony, Tesco, Jack Wills, GE and PepsiCo.

You will also receive:

- Salary of up to £35,000 per annum DOE
- Pension scheme
- 20 days' holiday (rising with service to 25 days) plus Bank Holidays
- Join a fresh-thinking team where your ideas are currency
- Training and development opportunities
